FIDE Presidential Elections Coming Up

Elections for the FIDE President will take place during the Chess Olympiad in Turin, Italy, in May. There, the FIDE President Kirsan Ilyumzhinov will compete for votes with at least one other candidate. This is Dutch businessman Bessel Kok. French chess organizer, Leo Battesti, had considered running also, but now has thrown his support behind Kok. Former World Champion Anatoly Karpov also hinted that he might run for FIDE President.

Kok is the main challenger. He is a successful European businessman, was involved in the creation of the Grandmaster Association, and was a moving force behind the Prague Unity Agreement, wherein the Classical World Championship was to be united with the FIDE World Championship, through a series of playdown matches involving Vladimir Kramnik (Russia), 2000 Classical World Champion, Garry Kasparov (Russia), 13th FIDE Champion and highest rated player in history (before he retired), and the then FIDE World Champion. Some blame Ilyumzhinov for the failure of this project. If there has been a negative about Kok's campaign, it is that it is very European and developed world based. Ilyumzhinov has always had a strong base in the developing countries, with his program of promoting chess in the developing world (though it is very debatable whether he has been successful in implementing his intended policies). Kirsan, a very wealthy Russian politician and businessman, has also made significant personal contributions of money to FIDE and to various tournaments. But some argue that this has just postponed the necessity that FIDE find ways to become financially independent through corporate sponsorship, etc.. Kirsan is also criticized for his autocratic style and for surrounding himself with a very unimpressive management team. Although there has been a movement to replace Kirsan for many years, and significant chess individuals and federations (now up to 18 federations) have endorsed Kok, it is not clear to me yet that Kok's candidacy has caught the imagination of the many federations that compose FIDE .

However, the CFC has now taken a position in this election. Chris Mallon, the President of the Canadian Chess Federation and the whole CFC executive have put their support behind Bessel Kok for the FIDE Presidency. Here is the CFC press release :

The Chess Federation of Canada (CFC) is pleased to announce that at the May 2006 elections in Turin for the post of President of FIDE (the World Chess Federation) it will be supporting the candidacy of Mr. Bessel Kok. We believe that he is the ideal person to implement the change of direction within FIDE which, it is widely accepted, is long overdue.

The incumbent FIDE administration has been in place since 1995, but its decade of stewardship of world chess has been marked by general inefficiency, the squandering of money and effort, the continuing lack of a proper infrastructure for running operations, an absence of interest in the game's image, poor marketing and communications action, non-existent corporate sponsorship and a failure to create any strategic vision.

The average Canadian chess player does not view FIDE, as currently led, as an organization worthy of confidence. The CFC believes that it is time for a complete overhaul of FIDE's administrators and directors, so that FIDE can re-emerge as a body admired by, and helpful to, professional and amateur players alike throughout the world.

Mr. Bessel Kok is an illustrious and highly-respected businessman with a true love of chess and a long track-record of service to the game. He was, for instance, the architect of the 2002 Prague Agreement, a golden opportunity for bringing back unity and harmony to the chess world which was, unfortunately, thrown away by the present FIDE leadership. Mr. Kok has stated that as FIDE President one of his first actions will be to host a new conference to bring to a definitive end the long-standing schism and to introduce a properly-organized and properly-funded world chess championship cycle open to one and all. The chess world is crying out for that, and has been for well over a decade.

Furthermore, the CFC welcomes Mr. Kok's recognition that FIDE can and must do far more to support the development of chess in nations which need our aid and knowledge. His projects to support chess in schools as an educational course and to take advantage of Internet technology are also to be warmly welcomed.

Mr. Kok has demonstrated, firstly, that he has undertaken a rigorous diagnosis, however painful, of FIDE's manifold current failings. Secondly, he has shown that he is the ideal person to implement the corrective programme of action so urgently required. In a spirit of Gens una sumus the CFC therefore urges its fellow federations throughout the world to unite in supporting Mr. Bessel Kok, so that he is accorded a clear mandate to lead FIDE in the vital work which lies ahead for us all.

It will be an interesting election in Turin in May !!

Tie for First at Aeroflot Tournament, Moscow, Russia

This is the strongest open swiss tournament in the world. It attracted 93 GM's of 94 players. It was played Feb. 7 to 16. The co-winners were Baadur Jobava (Georgia) [first on tie-break], Shakhriyar Mamedyarov (Azerbaijan), Krishnan Sasikiran (India), and Viktor Bologan (Russia) with 6.5 pts. in 9 rounds. Tied for 5th / 11th were : Pavel Eljanov (Ukraine), Kiril Georgiev (Bulgaria), Arkadij Naiditsch (Germany), Dimitry Jakovenko (Russia), Vladimir Akopian (Armenia), Maxime Vachier-Legrave (France) and Tigran L. Petrosian (Armenia), all with 6 pts..

Capelle la Grande, France

This is one of the largest one section swisses in the world, as well as being exceptionally strong. It is 9 rounds, and was played Feb. 18-25. A few days before the tournament, 594 players had registered, including 94 GM's (7 were over 2600, including GM Krishnan Sasikiran (India - 2670), GM Aleksander Delchev (Bulgaria - 2661) and GM Alexander Moiseenko (Ukraine - 2657)), 25 WGM's and 74 IM's. Two notable Canadians who participated were GM Kevin Spraggett (2581), highest rated Canadian and 7 time Canadian Champion, and IM Eric Lawson (2383), runner-up in the 2004 Canadian Closed.

The tournament was won with 7.5/9 pts. by Ukrainian GM Alexander Moiseenko (2657; ranked 3rd at the start of the tournament), who led for 7 of the first 8 rounds. There was an 8-player tie for 2nd/9th at 7 pts., including Sasikiran.

Spraggett made a good showing, winning 4 and drawing 1 of his last 5 games. He scored 6.5 pts., placing 10th/35th (he was originally ranked 13th/15th). The average rating of his opponents was 2424. Here is his final round 9 game :

Lawson also made a creditable showing, scoring 5.5 / 9 pts.. His record was 4 wins, 3 draws and 2 losses (one to a GM rated 2573, and one to a WGM rated 2225). His success is somewhat tempered by the fact that, excluding the rating of the GM, the average rating of his opponents was only 2165. There is some debate about whether European FIDE-rated players are under-rated, and that this must also be taken into account when considering Eric's result.

Congratulations to both Kevin and Eric for carrying high the Canadian standard in Europe !!

Canadian Chess Olympiad Teams Chosen

The 37th Chess Olympiad will take place in Turin, Italy from May 20 – June 4. Canada's national and women's teams have now been announced. The coach for the Canadian team is again IM Brian Hartman. The teams are (FIDE ratings given) :

National Team

GM Mark Bluvshstein – 2537

GM Pascal Charbonneau – 2496 - 2004 Canadian Champion

GM Dimitri Tyomkin – 2490

IM Igor Zugic – 2462

IM Yan Teplitsky – 2446

FM Tomas Krnan – 2409

Women's Team

WIM Nava Starr – 2176

WIM Natalia Khoudgarian – 2106 - 2006 Canadian Women's Champion

WIM Dinara Khaziyeva – 2095 - former Canadian Women's Champion

WFM Hazel Smith – 2027

Unfortunately, two of Canada's strongest GM's, Kevin Spraggett (2581) and Alexander Le Siege (2528), will not be on the national team. This is the youngest national team Canada has ever fielded, and it bodes well for the long-term future, especially given some of the younger up and coming Canadians who will soon be strong enough to qualify for the team. Good luck to all at the upcoming Olympiad !

Kitchener-Waterloo Winter Open

This one section swiss was held Feb. 17-19. The open section was won by David Filipovich with 4/5. David was 4/4 going into round 5 but got cut down by junior, Arthur Calugar in the last round.

The U2000 section was shared by Tom McClelland and Sergiy Orlov each with 4/5.

Yelizaveta Orlov completed the father-daughter sweep winning the U1600 with 4.5/5.

2005/6 SCC Club Championship

This tournament started on Thursday, January 5, 2006. The Championship Section is a 10 player round robin (8 highest rated players registering, plus the first and second place finishers in the 2004/5 club championship Reserve Section). Playing in the Championship Section this year are (ratings as of Jan. 5) : Bryan Lamb (2161), John Hall (2141), Donal Deiseach (1972), Jim Paterson (1921), Sascha Rapoport (1822), Pepin Manalo (1774), Rick Garel (1752), Pino Verde (1724), your intrepid editor, Bob Armstrong (1694 – Reserve Qualifier), and Maurice Smith (1581 – Reserve Qualifier).

After 8 rounds, the chaos of five players all being in contention for the lead has clarified a little. Jim Paterson is in first place, with 6 pts. (out of 8 games), having won his 8th round game. Three players are tied for second with 5 pts., Rick Garel, Donal Deiseach, and Bryan Lamb, but it is more complicated than that. Rick Garel is undefeated so far (he's had 4 wins and 2 draws), and therefore has dropped only 1 pt. to date. In round 8 he defeated his co-leader, Donal Deiseach. But he has 2 games in hand, and so has the potential to vault into first place alone if he can win his two outstanding games. But he does face one problem – Paterson has already won his ninth round game by forfeit, but Rick has to play in round 9 against Bryan Lamb, highest rated player in the championship – a tough game. Winning 2/3 of his final games, though, would still leave Rick in a tie for first place with Jim. Donal Deiseach is potentially tied with Jim, with 5 pts. (but out of only 7 games). But his outstanding game is also against Bryan Lamb, again a tough game. Bryan Lamb, also has his 5 pts. out of only 7 games, winning his eighth round game against Alex Rapoport (while in his trademark desperate time scramble !). And so a win in his outstanding game would leave him in a tie for first with Paterson. As said, his outstanding game is against Deiseach. And, to tie for first, he must also win his ninth round game with Garel. With his loss to Bryan in round 8, Alex Rapoport has now dropped 3 points and is out of contention.

So it's still a wide open tournament !!

In the sixth round there were a number of interesting games. An important sixth round game was that of Donal Deiseach and Pepin Manalo. Donal had 3 pts. . A win would give him 4 pts., putting him in a tie for second place, ½ pt. back. But he would have a game in hand over the then leader, Jim Paterson. So he had the potential to take first place, tied with Rick Garel, who also would have 4 pts., with a game in hand.. Donal got his win. Here is their game (annotations by Bob Armstrong, using Fritz) :

Another critical sixth round game involved the biggest upset of the tournament so far. Bryan Lamb, last year's champion, and the highest rated player this year, had a number of games in hand, but had only dropped ½ pt. to this point. The 2 potential leaders of the tournament, Donal Deiseach and Rick Garel, had both dropped a full point, and each still had Bryan to play. So Bryan was still on track to potentially win the tournament outright. In the sixth round he played your intrepid editor, Bob Armstrong, who to then had 5 straight losses ! But the David and Goliath syndrome was at work, and Armstrong managed to win this crucial game, and throw the championship wide open again, since Bryan had now dropped 1 ½ pts., and was now potentially in second place, tied with Jim Paterson. Here is the Armstrong/Lamb game (annotations by Bob Armstrong, using Fritz) :

In round 7, Jim Paterson was leading with 4 ½ pts. But Bryan Lamb had dropped only 1 ½ pts. to then, and so he was theoretically tied with Jim for the lead. A win for either of them would put them clearly in front. (However, Donal Deiseach and Rick Garel had only dropped 1 pt. to then, and had a game in hand, and so each had the potential to overtake both Jim and Bryan). Jim and Bryan met in a head-on clash in Rd. 7, to determine the leader.

But the game was equal throughout, and a draw resulted. Jim remained in the lead with 5 pts.. But this blew the championship wide open. Although Donal and Rick still had Bryan to play, they could each lose to Bryan, and still be tied with Jim and Bryan for the lead. And the early leader, Alex Rapoport, also had dropped only 2 pts. to then, and had 4 pts. with a game in hand, and so he also had the potential to tie Jim and Bryan for the lead – but he still had Bryan to play as well. So after 7 rounds, five players were all in the running for first place !!
